

JAGORI, New Delhi, India.

JAGORI Internship Programme:

JAGORI is instituting an ongoing volunteer internship programme which enables young women's rights activists and researchers to gain experience and contribute to JAGORI's mission of advancing women's rights. Interns should commit to a minimum four month-period in order to gain valuable exposure to a wide range of women's human rights issues in the country. Former Interns with JAGORI have enjoyed being with JAGORI.

Riya Chakravarty – “The experience that I had during my tenure, from writing the film synopsis to making ppts’ all have helped me to identify my strengths and weaknesses and also work on it. The books and movies which I watched enriched my knowledge tree and brought the realities of times in front of me.”

Shruti – “The internship at JAGORI was a great learning experience; it sensitized me to the various issues and concerns of women of different socio-economic strata and enlightened me. Apart from the VAW database creation, my close encounter with a dharna, training sessions for urban college-going youth as well as children from a resettlement colony and enthusiastic preparations for International Women's Day, were all immensely enriching.”

Key Tasks will include:

- Policy research relevant to women's rights and feminist practices
- Assist in writing reports, discussion papers and presentations
- Support in-country and regional, international advocacy efforts
- Support coordination on various projects and work as a team member with Project Coordinators
- Assist in administrative and project coordination work.

Key Competencies:

- Demonstrate commitment to women's rights
- Demonstrate good research, analytic thinking and writing skills
- Possess minimum a bachelors degree and/or advance degree in social sciences; economics, law, human rights or women's studies
- The internship will be considered for a minimum period of four months upto a maximum period of one year
- Good written and oral communication skills in English, and working knowledge of Hindi
- Ability to work in a team, take initiative and manage priorities in diverse settings and environment

Procedure:

Interested applicants should submit the following:

- Cover letter
- Résumé
- A letter of reference (from your teacher/professor/former employer)
- Sample of published/unpublished paper/report/article on women's rights and/or feminist struggles written by applicant.

JAGORI will not be able to offer any stipend and can at best cover local travel costs for field and other related visits. JAGORI will offer a working space for the internship.

Send your application to Neetu Routela at neetu@jagori.org

For more information, please visit: <http://www.jagori.org>